POLICE COURT ITEMS.

At the Magistracy to-day, the following cases were heard.

UNLAWFUL POSSESSION.

For being in unlawful possession of a dagger a man was fined 25c, in default, seven days' imprisonment.

OBSTRUCTION.

For causing obstruction in the street with his cart, a Chinese was fined 50c. Other men were also convicted upon similar charges.

WITHOUT LICENCES.

The finding of Chinese who hawk without licences seems to keep the police busy. Further cases were heard to-day, the magistrates imposing fines.

CRIMINAL CHINESE.

Three respectively-titled Chinese women and a man were charged with behaving in a noisy and disorderly manner in Gage Street on June 19th.

Mr. F. X. D'Almada e Castro appeared on behalf of a woman who lodged the complaint.

According to her story the defendants went round to her house and "hammered" at the door. The made a great noise, and a used insulting language. She blew a whistle and the detective came. In the meantime she put her back against the door to prevent the defendants from entering. Upon arrival of the detective they all ran away.

Mr. Melbourne: It was a festive day, and they came round to have tea with you?

Complainant: No, they didn't come round to see me; they came round to drink me (laughter).

Complainant added that they said that her husband owed them money.

Mr. Melbourne: What was all the trouble about, couldn't they have agreed?

Mr. D'Almada: I think it is a case of justifying your wife.

In further evidence it was stated that the male defendant was the god-father of one of the women.

Defendants made statements in which they depicted going round to the houses with any mischievous intent, or that they made undue noise.

Mr. D'Almada: I don't wish to press for a conviction, merely had that your worship will find defendants guilty.

Mr. Melbourne intimated Mr. D'Almada, who expected the case to occupy only a short time, that he would have to hear what each defendant had to say, and if they had witness, what they had to say also.

Mr. D'Almada: Will you adjourn the case?

Mr. Melbourne: I can give you 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Mr. D'Almada: Then the case will take till then.

Mr. Melbourne: Supposing it does not go off, can we have you over to you like, the next day, at 11 a.m. on Friday, via the

KWANTUNG NEWS.

CHINESE AVIATOR COMES TO GUIJU.

For a month or more a Chinese named Fung Yu-kwei had a flying machine down in Shantung. On the morning of the sixteenth of the month, he made an attempt to fly, but he did not make much of the effort. After some little time he managed to raise the machine a little more than ten Chinese feet from the ground, which would be above five yards probably. At that height, he managed to cover about a hundred yards. Then suddenly the machine turned upside down, and came to the ground; and the aviator was in the midst of the debris. Apparently, however, he did not suffer much, for within a few seconds he was clear of the machine and standing on his feet. He reported that the front part of the machine was broken, and also that the machinery was injured, and after consultation with one or two comrades, who are supposed to understand what repairs were needed, the aviator advised his friends that it would be impossible to make another attempt for the present. One would think, from the general description of what happened, that the owner of the machine would think twice before again trusted himself of his native soil.

GENERALITY OF AMERICAN CHINESE. Recently the Kwangtung Chinese in America sent back to Canton twenty thousand dollars, which is to be used in purchasing rice for the poor; at least is to be expended, so that rice does not exceed a certain price, beyond which the poor find it very difficult to buy. There was a large gathering of those who control the Shih Tong, who met to discuss the modus operandi. After some consultation it was decided that ten thousand dollars be deposited in the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank, and the other ten thousand be placed in the native bank, of "Great Reliability," in which banks these sums will bear interest for the time. It said that for the present there is no immediate need for the expenditure of the money, and that it will be safer to lay by till the market is more plentifully supplied, and rice is dearer. A vote of gratitude and appreciation was passed to be forwarded to their compatriots in America, who, though so far away, have "with such warm hearts thought about, and cared for the trees planted by their fathers"—i.e., their early homes in their native land. Certainly it is a generous gift; but with a population like that of Canton, it would not be an easy matter to apportion it, that all who need may share the gift.

AFTERMATH OF THE SHOOTING. It will be remembered that in Canton last Friday evening there was trouble, and between twenty and thirty men were shot. Some of these victims apparently were men from the country, who were staying in Canton. During the last few days, "passenger" boats from the country have been crowded with women and girls, who have come out to Canton in order to ascertain who of their relatives, if any, were the victims of the shooting. It seems something like what we see here after an accident at sea, when it is known that some lives have been sacrificed, and the relatives do not know their names. So these unfortunate women and girls have come out to Canton and are searching about to discover who were killed, and their names, that they may know if their wage earners are amongst the slain or not. What results these unfortunate women have ascertained is not reported.

BIG ROBERT AT SAI TSU.

We have not infrequently to refer to outrages that happen at Sai Tsu, outside Fatshan, for the people are reported to be turbulent, and difficult to keep in check. It is now reported that during the night of the eighteenth, a big raid was made upon some of the houses of the rich; which raid was made by the soldiers. These troops suddenly appeared upon the scene, and announced that they had come to search for arms. Of course their object was quite otherwise and so the event proved. They had no sooner entered the dwelling houses than they commenced to plunder, and did not stay their hands till they had swept together everything of value, after which they decamped with their booty. They carried off silver, clothing, the arms that the militia of the village possessed. They also robbed and destroyed the implements used in the weaving of silk, and all the trinkets they could find on the persons of the women. Altogether it is regarded as a very bad robbery, and those who have suffered are the more exasperated, inasmuch as the marauders were those for whom recently the people have subscribed money, in order that they might receive their pay.

PATENT MEDICINES.

Home Office Committee of Investigation

We understand, says the "Evening Standard," that a Select Committee appointed by the Home Secretary to investigate the sale of patent medicines and their advertisement will commence its sitting at an early date. Sir Henry Norman, who is the chairman, will have the assistance of Mr. Marshall Hall, Sir Philip Magnus, Mr. Charles Bathurst, Sir Henry Dalziel, Mr. Harry Lawson, Dr. Chapple, Mr. Lynch, and Mr. Glyn Jones.

For some years an agitation has been carried on against all patent or proprietary medicines and foods. Questions have been asked frequently in Parliament, and a bill, calling for the disclosure of the formulae, has been introduced, though, as the venture of a private member, it made no progress.

There are about three hundred manufacturers of patent medicines and foods. In most cases they are firms of long standing. Many of them have been in business over half a century, and the articles they own and make are sold all over the world. They pay over £300,000 annually in stamp duty. For them the question is a very serious one.

MANUFACTURER'S INSTRUCTION:

The principal suggestion made in all attacks on these remedies and drugs is that the composition of them all shall be stated on the label box, or package, and as there is a good deal of misunderstanding as to the effect which this publication would have, it is pointed out, on behalf of the proprietors, that legislation on these lines would mean the ruin of every "proprietary article" business.

In the law of this country absolutely the only protection that the manufacturer has is the secret of his formula which is his own trade secret. By disclosing this secret the trade mark rights would become practically worthless. Decisions in the law courts and opinions of trade mark lawyers prove that when once the formula has been made public it is open to anyone to make and sell the article and call it by the name by which it has been known.

It is claimed that there is not a single manufacturer who has published his formula and then has been able to maintain his proprietary rights and trade mark title in his article. For this reason all owners of such articles feel that they are bound to resist any efforts to force them to disclose their formulae.

There is, however, another and important public consideration to be taken into account. The owners emphasise the fact that a very large percentage of the population have for years depended upon these remedies, and it would be a hardship to deprive them of medicines to which they have been accustomed, and which they are now able to obtain readily at small cost.

WHAT IS THE ALTERNATIVE?

One of the great advantages of a proprietary medicine is that its standard formula gives it the character of a single drug as far as uniformity in result is concerned, and the people who use it know from experience just what they can count on.

What alternative, they ask, is offered in substitution for the proprietary? Is everyone afflicted with some little ailment to be compelled to go to a doctor? If so, what a hardship this would be upon the poorer people, especially those living in country districts. The fact that the proprietary medicines meet a real need is declared to be proved by the large number that are sold and the extremely rare instances in which they are known to have done harm to those who take them.

Recent legal proceedings, in which the decision has gone in favour of shopkeepers who pass off substitutes for a genuine proprietary article, has shown one of the difficulties which already confronts owners, and if to this is to be added legislation calculated to inflict upon them further heavy loss, it should only be passed after the most careful consideration has been given to every aspect of the matter.

The members of the Owners of Proprietary Articles' Section of the London Chamber of Commerce are prepared to state their case before the Select Committee, if they are given the opportunity.

PATENT MEDICINES.Intimations*A Vigorous Elderly Lady*Intimations*Age Weakness, Sleeplessness, Sciatica—

"It has been life to me for more than ten years," says Miss Mason in acknowledging how completely Phosferine gives her the vigour and strength to overcome the feebleness and infirmities of 70 years of age. Since taking Phosferine, all sleeplessness and sciatica has disappeared, and she undertakes duties which were previously beyond her strength, declaring she feels as energetic and capable, with her faculties as sound and alert, as in the prime of life. In firm, clear handwriting, Miss Mason records the restoration of her appetite and the renewal of healthy action in the bodily functions, thus proving how effectively Phosferine reinforced her vitality, and moved the nervous activities of the hardening and ageing tissues. Such commanding evidence of the power of Phosferine to arouse and infuse vitality into systems too old and too weak to help themselves, is convincing proof that younger people will benefit even more rapidly and extensively from the energising influence of Phosferine.

Most Successfully Overcome.

Miss A. L. Mason, Albert Villa, Park Road, Clevedon, Eng., writes:—"I am pleased to tell you Phosferine has been a most valuable medicine to me, for more than ten years. I was in a very low condition some time ago, and suffered greatly from insomnia and sciatica; the latter, I am glad to say, is now quite gone, and I sleep fairly well. Phosferine has quite restored my appetite, but I do not expect much greater strength at 70 years of age. I take as much exercise as I can possibly manage, the chief weakness being in my back and legs, but Phosferine always relieves me. Phosferine has been life to me. Use this letter if you like to do so."

It is claimed that there is not a single manufacturer who has published his formula and then has been able to maintain his proprietary rights and trade mark title in his article. For this reason all owners of such articles feel that they are bound to resist any efforts to force them to disclose their formulae.

There is, however, another and important public consideration to be taken into account. deluded into lending their money upon the unthinking nations who will be dragged into war when these sordid hucksterings have accelerated the administering collapse of China." This reads more in the nature of prophecy than of calm opinion, and one almost detects the anxiety of the writer that his prophecy may come true. The wish is fitter to the thought to all appearance, and the tone adopted is, to say the least, regrettable. Mr FRASER was for many years a journalist in India, and therefore what he has to say of the ways of the Oriental, particularly the Indian, are worthy of all consideration. The article in question clearly indicates that his knowledge of China is very different. There can be no two questions on the point that China is much in need of financial assistance, the most important question is whether or not she is in a strong enough state at present to receive it. Most of the journalists at home, apparently basing their arguments upon the scrappy and graphic news supplied by cable, are almost unanimous in condemning the step. On the other hand, the financiers, after careful consideration extending over a long period, and being closely in touch with Peking through their own agents, all of whom are experts, are decidedly in favour of the loan being granted. The Home journalists have a good deal to say about the corrupt methods of the Mandarins and the general instability of the country. Now the facts are that China is certainly showing every indication of being ripe for development along the right lines and there is no evidence but that she will not progress and, probably, very much more rapidly than even the most sanguine would venture to predict. What should it matter though the Foreign indebtedness of China is at present very large, that her customs revenue is hypothecated or that she has recently passed through an historical crisis? China is probably the wealthiest country in the world in natural resources, and her potentialities in that respect, as in others, are incalculable. We see no reason for doubting that China is at present on the right road for true progress or that she is not likely to remain in a stable condition for many years to come. The Manchus are out of the way—and it is preposterous to believe that they may yet prove a menace. Even now, though progress is naturally slow, it is evident that the country is, as we have already stated, ready to forge ahead in the right direction. The London journalists are at the wrong tack in dramatically warning the investing public at home against China, and the sooner they endeavor to understand the true state of affairs in China, the sooner will they be in a position to do justice to a great country and thus assist instead of preventing her from receiving the necessary assistance for her development.

"THE TIMES" AND THE PLAN TO CHINA.

(Reuter's Service to the China Mail.)

LONDON, June 25.
The London "Times" of the 24th instant, in an article upon the condition of China and the proposed loan, asks what can be the value of any safeguards for the legitimate expenditure of the loan when the Central Government is inadequate to enforce the most solemn treaty obligations upon the Provinces? The journal deprecates the hasty hazarding of Britain's money on the mere chance that things may ultimately come right, and adds: "Still less do we wish to see British financial interests further involved at the risk of finding ourselves ultimately drawn into active intervention for their protection."

THE BRITISH BUDGET.

THE DISPOSAL OF THE SURPLUS.

The Naval Supplementary Estimates.

(Reuter's Service to the China Mail.)

LONDON, June 25.
Mr. Lloyd George, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, in presenting the Budget in the House of Commons, reminded the House that there were two contingencies regarding the disposal of the surplus of £3 million. When he had made his Budget statement at first he was unable to say whether or not the coal strike would cause a loss of revenue in consequence of the decreased consumption. He was now able to say that such was the buoyancy of trade that the Estimates of the year's revenue given at the beginning of the year would be well within the mark, and probably there would be a margin. Consequently it would be unnecessary to draw upon the revenue at all to meet the ravages made by the strike.

DEBT REDUCTION BY PRESIDENT GOVERNMENT.

The last remaining £3,000,000, continued Mr. Lloyd George, would be devoted to the Redemption of Debt. The total reduction of debt by the present Government, including the present £3,000,000, would be £78,184,000, and he asked, as a matter of fair play, that when comments were made on the price of Consols adverse to the Government figures, that the debt reduction should be given as well.

GERMANY'S NAVAL PROGRAMME.

The other contingency was the possible increase of the demands of the Admiralty upon the Exchequer. Mr. Churchill had stated quite clearly that he had based his estimates upon the assumption that the German Navy Law would remain unaltered. There was a bill before the Reichstag at the time for very considerable additional provision to be made to the Old Navy Law. Since then the Bill had become an Act of Parliament, so that "it was no longer a contingency, but a fact with which we were confronted." This new Navy Law provided for additions being spread over a six years' Naval Programme, amounting in the aggregate to ten millions sterling. Mr. Churchill would in due course submit Supplementary Estimates, but it was not for him (the Chancellor of the Exchequer) to anticipate Mr. Churchill's statement, and he only referred to it as it was necessary to explain the financial statement which he was now making. This year the additional sum which Mr. Churchill would ask would not exceed a million sterling, but further heavy payments would fall due in subsequent years as the result of the programme which Mr. Churchill had found it necessary to outline.

AMERICA'S PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

The Republican split is rendered irrevocable by the dual nomination which intensifies interest in to-morrow's Democratic Convention at Baltimore, especially in view of a similar split of the Conservative and Progressive wings of the Democratic Party. The Progressive wing promises to carry the day. Senator Woodrow Wilson, one of the likeliest candidates, with 300 votes pledged to his support, has replied to Mr. Bryan's telegram agreeing that the Convention is to be one of progressive ideas.

PEKING, JUNE 25.

It is reported that Tung Shao Yi, the Premier, considers that the President has encroached upon his powers in the Cabinet, but having regard to the friendship which exists between himself and the President, he would rather resign office than make any protest against his action. He has actually sent in his resignation, but Yuan Shih Kai has refused to accept it, and has granted him five days' leave.
